8-10-45

Mrs Darby,
7 Queens Drive
Surbiton
Surrey

IBCC Digital Archive

F/o C. Darby, 154676.
R.A.F. Station
Acaster Malbis
Nr York.
Yorks

Sunday

My darling.

Expect you were a disappointed as I over not being able to get home this weekend, but my cold wasn't too good and the weather was very foggy so the trains would have been late.

I had an early night last night with two whiskies and hot water plus a large dose of cough mixture and slept under about six blankets, I feel much better now and my cold is nearly gone. If the weather is better next week and I can get off, as now I am liable for week-end duties I shall come home, it'll only be Saturday evening and Sunday as getting time off is difficult here. This place is really funny, must have been the original of "Much Binding in the Marsh" We've even got an aeroplane here, there's six huge hangars and its tucked up in one corner. I'll tell you all about it when I come home.

IBCC Digital Archive

2

As regards the laundry, I'm sending off a parcel to you tomorrow, I washed the handkerchiefs as I needed them but the rest of the stuff I'll leave for the time being, don't bother to send it back as I believe you have a clean set of underwear at home now. I didn't know quite where to send the parcel as you are busy now, however will leave it to you.

IBCC Digital Archive

I went into York yesterday afternoon, it's not far about half an hour on the bicycle, so will be alright for getting back in the mornings. I've looked up the trains and one leaves at 2.6. pm so should get into Kings X

IBCC Digital Archive

4/

about 6 p/c. York is quite an interesting old place, I spent quite an enjoyable afternoon wandering round. They have a very good Y.M.C.A. Officers club, can get plenty of food there its nicely served up and very cheap.

By the way, how is the flat going, has the wiring been done yet? Give an idea about your saucepan rack, will measure up when I come home, it might save you bending!

Well, my dearest that's all for the moment, give my love to mother & Dads.

All my love darling, hope to see you soon.

Your affec husband Jack xxxxxx

P.S. my reply to those rumbles

IBCC Digital Archive