My Dearest W^r Waring Leics

We are indeed distressed at the news which we've received, & our hearts go out to you in deepest sympathy in your great anxiety. I had been planning to write to you over the week-end, for just a day or two ago we had a card from M^r Goldthorpe, & he said he knew how deeply sorry we would be to know that M^r Waring had been reported missing. Then on Tuesday I saw M^r Lowles after the service, she also had heard the grave news, I said she would be writing you. She & M^r Lowles held you both in the highest esteem.

Later on Sunday I met M^r. Hancock. You will probably remember meeting her husband.
He is at the 'Dome here. He is a talented Musician, a very fine Tenor Singer, & sometimes plays on organ. When M^r Hancock knew I was going to write to you, she especially asked me to tell you how grieved the men at the 'Dome were, & how deeply they all respected, & I might truly say - loved, M^r Waring. It is a very wonderful thing to have won the regard of men like that.
It will be a joy beside to you to know this even in these days of terrible anxiety.

We too knew how very fine & good he was, & we were very good & you both I greatly appreciated your fellowship & service all the while you were with us. We are grieved to the heart that this great anxiety has come to you. It seems hard that owing to official secrecy one cannot get further information. We do not wonder at your being ill, for the shock must have been just terrible but we do advise your brave heart & are thankful indeed that you are feeling rather better.

We do most earnestly & sincerely join our prayers our prayers to yours that your brave, gallant husband will be safely restored to you. One is constantly hearing

& reading of such things happening even after a very long time & we'll keep that hope bright & shining.

May God be with you my dear I bless you very richly & give you the desire of your heart Our love & thoughts are with you

Ever yours

S. A. S. Some
