

Government's Plans to Spread Out Industry

OPENING a debate in the Commons today at the location of industry, Mr. Dalton, President of the Board of Trade, said one of the proposals was for the removal of distressed areas.

Another one was for the development areas to be properly developed with industrial reinforcements and diversified as regards their industrial composition so that they were no longer dependent on a small number of industries, and to attract further employment in those areas as well as in the rest of the country.

KESSELRING IS STILL IN FULL RETREAT

Hunted by Nazis For Weeks

AFTER escaping from a prison camp in Italy and spending some months evading the Germans, Lieutenant William "Percy" R.E. the 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Pearsall, of 31, Henry Street, Westbury Bridge, Hereford, has returned home on 30 day's leave.

Mr. Pearsall, who has been in the army since 1914, was actively interested in the fact that his son had been captured by the Germans. He had a great deal to say about the fact that his son had been captured by the Germans.

TRAPS WE HAD TO BEAT TO LAND

THE "Atlantic Wall" was not a solid concrete structure from Belgium to Spain, writes Joseph Dorelli. It was a series of traps designed to catch the Allies as they landed.

Most formidable of the anti-landing obstacles in the Bay of Normandy was the "Atlantic Wall" which was a series of traps designed to catch the Allies as they landed.

Alexander Asks Italian Patriots to Revolt

KESSELRING'S forces are still in full retreat from Rome, with Allied troops in full pursuit, according to reports reaching Allied Headquarters.

Between 25 per cent and 30 per cent of his effective forces have been wiped out since the Italian offensive opened.

WHY OUR LANDING SHOOK NAZIS

HERE are some eye-witness accounts by combined Press correspondents:—

F. Southcott, off the Normandy coast. The Germans thought that even the most English areas for the day of the invasion had been apparently prepared for the invasion thrust.

Another opinion is that it was not a matter of weather but the situation of the coast. The English were in the Waddens, the cover, the project proceeds rapidly, and the Royal Navy has seen the first big batch of men.

They are not only making weapons, and supplies aboard with enormous light motorized cars. They are not only in the air, but in the water, and in the ground.
