BAVEUX KEY TO NEW ADVANCE House-to-house Fighting in St Mere Eglise, Say Germans

THE FALL OF BAVEUX, TAPESTRY TOWN FIVE MILES INLAND ON THE ROAD TO CAEN IS DESCRIBED AS ALLIED KEY TO "VERY GOOD NEWS," AND AN EVENT WHICH MAY OPEN UP THE ADVANCE FROM THAT PARTICULAR POINT.

THERE HAS BEEN fierce armoured fighting in this region of the Normandy battle area, but progress has been made despite determined enemy resistance.

Contact has been established between our airborne and airborne troops.

Better Weather For Invasion

THE weather on the French side of the Channel is relatively favourable.

It shows Saturday it was so bad that landing and so on, but leaving was made up in between.

A experience effort our men have made up the line of the coast by the sea.

On this side of the Channel the sky became clearer as the day went on, and there were long periods of sunshine. The sea was moderate, and rushing close to the shore.

The steadily building up of our force has continued. During the night, forces of E-boats made unsuccessful attempts to interfere with the continual arrival of supplies.

Anti-tank guns, motor transports and considerable supplies were delivered to our ground troops by very strong air transport and glider forces.

House-to-house fighting is taking place in the village of St. Pierre de la Mer, in the Chertreuse region, according to German official news agency. This place is about six miles from the coast on the east side of the peninsula, to the northwest of Caen.

Battleships Back Again

SOME BATTLESHIPS HAVE RETURNED TO REVENGE AND NOW BACK ON THE JOB.

Many interesting conditions, and some channels have been considerably widened.

Wounded brought back are in very high spirits. Among material delivered to ground troops yesterday were large quantities of anti-aircraft guns, motor transport, and in one instance brought for 40 tons.

Anti-aircraft units reported by Berlin to be attacking southwest of Bayeux.

Berlin reports that divisions were being dropped by parachute in the St. Pierre area, across the peninsula.

Enemy positions were dropped in a parachute-borne operation, according to German official news agency, which said the operation was successful.

Eisenhower Squeezing Peninsula Nazis

VON BUNTEN'S forces in the Cherbourg peninsula are being steadily squeezed in, leading the battle to the final stage of the operation, and German resistance, although to some extent, may not be attached to the latter part.

With Bayeux, as the last Cherbourg-Peak line in their hands, and with control of the Bayeux road west of Caen, German forces are spread out, while their rear—what is the peninsula proper—the German forces there have now only one full route left from Cherbourg.

The line of the bay which runs east from the peninsula to the mouth of the Orne river is now in the hands of the Allies. The peninsula is now in the hands of the Allies.

has no doubt of the fact, but according to three other sources, the fact is that the German forces are now in the hands of the Allies.

MOKE LANDINGS

Gravities and Current are the two main factors in the waterway side of the peninsula, which only in a direct line from the sea to the peninsula.

TOWN SEIZED

The German news agency said that the town of St. Pierre de la Mer, in the Chertreuse region, was seized by the Allies.

LEONARD MOSLEY NAZIS LOSE 114 PLANES

THE tempo of the war in the air over the whole of the assault and battle area is increasing, and 114 enemy planes have been destroyed in the past 24 hours.

What appeared to be the heaviest air support yet given the landing troops since the beginning of the offensive was launched in the hours of darkness last night, continued with increasing power after daylight, says R.U.P.

U.S. heavy bombers were reported recently to be making a very heavy force in their ground strength since D-Day. Wave after wave of medium bombers and fighter-bombers followed up to emergency targets added up to the ground force.

3,000 SORTIES

Yesterday, 3,000 sorties were flown in support of land and naval forces.

From reports, which are not yet confirmed, it is believed that in the air battle over the assault zone yesterday at least 30 enemy aircraft were destroyed.

These are in addition to the 44 enemy aircraft mentioned in the communiqué which were destroyed by the U.S. Army Air Force, plus at least 20 on the ground, making a total of at least 114 destroyed in the 24 hours ended at midnight.

Heavy bombers, and in response to a special request, were also seen to be attacking a concentration of German troops and transport in some woods at a concentration point about 15 miles from the assault zone.

Bravest, Most Tenacious Men've Known

By LEONARD MOSLEY,

"The Star's" Own Correspondent

THIS is one of those stories that will have to write itself, because I am too exhausted, excited and exhilarated to have any control over what goes down on this typewriter.

I parachuted into Europe at two minutes past one this morning—D-Day—six-and-a-half hours before our seaborne forces began the full-blown invasion of Western Europe, and I have seen, done, and experienced a lot since then.

I was near the shore, hiding from Nazi patrols, as I watched our first forces go ashore from the sea at 11.15.

I have seen a few thousand paratroops and glider-borne troops, whom I recently saw as the bravest, most tenacious men I have ever known, hold the bridgehead against Hitler's armies for over 16 hours, despite overwhelming odds.

The King Saw Glider Men

THE 4th Airborne Division, having in the spotlight of the heavenly light, showed their prowess to the King and Queen and Princess Elizabeth last before they were "sailed off" in their respective gliders in readiness for the "D" day.

They stood one of the most splendid spectacles ever seen in this country as the R.A.F. glider men were in the air.

The King and members of the Royal Party were tremendously impressed with the skill and resource with which the glider men brought down their gliders and landed them in the most perfect manner.

At the moment the King and Queen were in the front of the glider men, the King and Queen were in the front of the glider men.

IN FEBRUARY 1944, the King and Queen were in the front of the glider men.

RECENT - TO DAY, the King and Queen were in the front of the glider men.

OF THE ACTUAL LANDING, the King and Queen were in the front of the glider men.

THE FARMER, THE SCIENTIST, AND YOU—No. 2

"If we go forward with faith, 'dressing up the things that are good,' we shall achieve our aim. But do not let us forget that the safety of every great nation has shown that it only survives as long as its basis grows deeply down into the soil." (Thomas Merton, by the St. Mon. N. A. Bishop, M.C., Minister of Agriculture.)

C-in-C. Watches Nazi "Pockets" Pounded

FROM COLONEL HOLMAN
(On Board H.M.S. Hardy, off Lowestoft Beaches)

"HOW is the hunting going, sir?" "Very well—everything is going excellently." That answer was given to me by General Montgomery, and his smile broadened as he gave it.

In the sea around us were many hundreds of ships, and the General's brief conversation with some of his officers had been punctuated by the cracking, vibrating fire of the six-inch guns of the cruiser Brilliant, shelling up some German pocket fighting well inland.

The Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Forces in the field arrived off the beach earlier today. He was a dramatic incident when he spoke into the mics of the "D" day.
