Dear Father & Mother, Many thanks for letter & papers, received when I arrived back in Whitley Bay last night.

I'm sorry I've been so long writing but we've been away on a field exercise and really haven't had the time or inclination to write.

We left early last Friday morning in full marching order, full webbing, we had to carry our own kit they also made us carry a rifle and bayonet which as you can 21 imagine put the boys in a very good mood to start with; we then marched about 15 miles under a boiling hot sun, after about two hours we seemed to be miles from anywhere, parts of Northumberland are really wild and bleak, and our packs seemed to weigh a ton, sweat was pouring down our faces under the tin hats and as many of the fellows hadn't done much marching for a long while many were complaining of sore feet, so about 15.00 hrs we pitched camp near a little village called Bedlington One of the officers rang up S.S.Q. who sent one of the M.O.s

out to treat all the fellows with blisters etc, I felt pretty tired and my feet were rather sore but luckily I had no blisters, the M.O. took a very dim view of all the blisters I don't know what else they expected though taking fellows on a long march like that when they were not used to it, we should in my opinion have done a little each day and gradually worked up instead of going the whole hog at once as it were; during the following days we were ~~supposed~~ supposed to do some bridge building and general fieldcraft, I thought it was quite interesting, but the majority of the fellows were not very keen on the idea so we couldn't do much, the whole thing was rather a farce actually as most of the fellows refused to ^{do} anything except sunbathe.

On the way back we were supposed to attack a party of Australian pilots & navigators, who were supposed to try and get through a gap in a mined area, after waiting over two hours for them we found out they had all got cheered with flying soldiers before they got to us and had returned to Whitley Bay by train.

According to instructions we were to proceed to Whitley Bay in A.A. formation but we were all tired and thoroughly browned off so decided to split up in sections and make for the nearest bus routes.

The whole thing was in fact a complete fiasco.

I don't know definitely yet but I expect we shall leave here next Wed.

I shall probably go back to Harrogate.

I think I shall stay here if I can though as I rather like living by the sea.

I'm writing this sitting on the beach but the suns going down and its getting a little chilly so I think I'll retire to the mess for some supper cheerio for now,

Ever your loving son,
Alus
